WHEN'S INSURANCE NOT A GOOD BUY?

When the rate is so low, something has to "give" and that may take the form of restrictive clauses, poor service, "hard" settlements or corners that can be cut in many places.

One policy is as good as another until you have a loss, and when you do you want good service and a prompt settlement.

That's why most people do business with a local, independent agent.

Local Canneries Open July 3

Appomattox County's two community canneries will open July 3. The Appomattox Cannery will be operated by Mr. R. C. Beale and the Pamplin Cannery by Mrs. A. R. Southall. The Appomattox Cannery will open five days a week — Monday thru Friday. The Pamplin Cannery will open four days a week — Tuesday thru Friday or as much time as necessary to provide facilities for its patrons.

Considerable work is being done to open these canneries. Two new stainless steel top tables have replaced old ones at Pamplin as well as the addition of another new sink. Much rearranging, painting, and repair are being done at both canneries.

Each patron is requested to bring his own supplies such as salt, bowls, and knives.

No patrons will be accepted after 2 p.m.

Remember that you can expect no better product than that which you bring. Prepare vegetables quickly, keep them fresh and harvest them as late as you can before leaving for the cannery. Fresh vegetables make good products.

Sears Awarded Park Contract

J. E. Sears & Company of Appomattox, was awarded the contract on four projects for the further development of Appomattox Court House National Historical Park on a bid of $45,406.00. Bids were opened June 18 and awarded to the lowest bidder, J. E. Sears and Company on June 24, 1964, according to an announcement made by Superintendent Steele.

Three of the buildings are reconstruction of the McLean House dependencies: The Ice House, the Kitchen and the Slave Quarters. The fourth is the restoration of the Mariah Wright House, originally built in 1824.

Work is expected to begin early in July and it is expected to be completed by early 1965. These and other structures and projects already underway are expected to round out the Historic Village where visitors can observe it much as it existed about 1865.

The National Park Service is attempting to complete all major projects under the MISSION 66 program of the Department of the Interior in time for the Centennial Commemoration on April 9, 1965.

AI Available Here For All Cow Owners

Gigantic improvement in the genetic make-up of Virginia dairy cattle has been accomplished in the last decade. Glance quickly at the State dairy cattle production level in 1953: 8350No. 2432No F (All cows on DHIA test).

Then study the preliminary figures for 1963: 11,034No. M 423No. F, and you are bound to agree. Achievements in increasing the herd owners throughout the state are even more phenomenal. These increases can be attributed to improvement in three areas— Breeding, Feeding and Management. Without a balanced program in all three, the greater heights of dairy production and profit can never be realized.

Dairy leaders the country over have heralded artificial insemination (AI), the major means for this mass genetic improvement — as the greatest advancement in dairying since the invention of the Babcock test.

Here are some reasons why artificial breeding has been adopted by the majority of Virginia dairymen:

1. AI has made available to him the Top transmitting sires in the land at a price well within the reach of all.

2. AI has eliminated the necessity of using one bull on the entire herd. The use of several top quality sires is like an insurance policy.

3. AI eliminated from the farm— the dangerous bull. It made our farms safer for children, workers and farmer.

4. AI has lessened the danger of spreading reproductive diseases. AI Studs employ strict health programs and Technicians use sanitary procedures.

5. Stripped of all its other advantages, Inter-related as they are — AI is an economy measure. In most cases the income from one more cow in the milking herd will often more than pay the breeding fees for the entire herd.

For dairy cattle breeders and commercial dairymen, AI has become a common practice. Every breed Association reports an increase in percent of all registered cattle that are the result of artificial breeding. The Holstein- Friesian Association of America reports that 64.2 of all Holsteins registered are conceived artificially. Only ten years ago the corresponding percentage was 29.5.

In 1964, in Appomattox County, Artificial Insemination is available to every cown owner, member and non-member alike. Today, science and through Artificial Insemination — to provide Better Cattle for Better Living.

Farmer's Share Of Food Dollar Now Is 39 Cents

The farmer receives about 39 cents of every dollar the housewife spends for food — six cents less than in 1949.

The other 61 cents goes for processing, handling, transportation, marketing, taxes and other services, W. T. Powers, executive director of the Virginia Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), reports.

The farmer is not to blame for rising food costs which are about 12 per cent above the 1947-49 levels, Powers said. The nation's demands for higher living standards and so - called "built-in maid services" were given as the reasons for increasing food costs.

He described the "built-in maid services" as the housewife's demands for food that is properly cleaned, packaged, cut and sliced, dehydrated, dried, flaked, blanched, canned and pre-cooked with the vitamins added.

The farmer, Powers said, receives about 12 per cent less for the same food he sold today than he did in 1949, while processing and marketing costs are up 36 per cent.

Where Shall We Eat?

WHERE shall we eat?" A familiar question — especially during summer tourists. But that question also raised in the current issue of Life's Tale," local publication of the Appomattox Lions Club. In a short article titled, "Ladies Night Later," Lion explains that "a comfortable advantage enough to handle the extra attendance" could not be secured for the proposed Ladies Night June 25. But a member has an idea about which might be obtained for Ladies Night before school opens this fall. The program chairman would like to have his suggestion."

It has occurred to us several times lately that the "Where" in "Where shall we eat?" is going to become increasingly a tantalizing question. Our local restaurants are giving good service and accomodations to the extent of their facilities.

However, Lion's search for a larger dining hall for Ladies Night may not be an isolated incident. Has anyone else been thinking about how many BIG—BIG affairs may be planned for our Centennial year?

Auto Competition

Twenty years ago, gigantism was the rage in American automobile design. Tail fins reached loftiest heights. Grilles were stretched to impractical dimensions for garages.

During that period, European auto industry reached a post-war peak of prosperity alarming, exports of cars sank to 116,520, the lowest since World War II.

Due to the peculiar nature of auto sales and manufacture — the long time between drawing board and assembly line — the public did not know what was already meeting the import problem behind the scenes.

The result showed in 1960 — the year of the American compact.

Last year, imports dropped to about 409,000 and this was in an expanding market. One industry source is predicting U. S. exports will top 200,000 this year, the highest number in nearly a decade.

No one can claim that the small car is the complete answer, but at least the industry has shown its ability to respond to demand once the warning signals were clear.

Ups And Downs

Lesson for July 5, 1964

Background Scripture: Genesis 46:1 through 47:12; Exodus 1. Devotional Reading: Psalm 37: 1-11.

What happens to you isn't usually so important as what you learn from what happens to you. That is why, sometimes, a simple backwoodsman has a wiser philosophy of life than some men with a much wider experience. Wisdom is not confined to people who can afford to go anywhere and see anything. We shall follow this clue in the next three months while these lessons follow the history of an ancient people, ancestors of the modern Jews. We shall not try to do as the historian does, lay this out like a textbook in history. If we did that, we should hardly begin our first chapter by the time we reach the end of the column. We have been thinking about how to answer the question: When did these things happen? Who was the Pharoah of Egypt at that time? Nobody knows for certain. All we know is, it was a long time ago. You can look it up in dictionaries of the Bible if you like. But what we shall be doing is only to offer hints on what we can learn from the story; and you can read the story for yourself in the Bible. Maybe the story suggests other meanings to you. If so, we shan't quarrel about it!

Life's Ups and Downs

What is the most disturbing thing about life? As you go on growing older and older, one of the most distressing features of life is that it won't stay put. Just when it seems to be fixed to suit you, something happens that turns your life upside down and inside out.

Those Hebrews, as they had begun to call themselves, went into Egypt as free men, welcomed and cared for by his Royal Highness the Pharaoh. In a few years (as history's years ups and downs aren't just that. When you are climbing a mountain you may be slipping a good deal too. Perhaps it would be better to speak of life's shade and shine. No shade is absolutely black; no brightness on this earth is as bright as brightness can possibly be — say on the sun; otherwise we should all go blind. So the experiences we call "bad" may have good concealed in them, and the experiences in life we call good may not be wholly good as we look back on them. If the Hebrews hadn't gone into Egypt, they might have starved; but they might not have become slaves after. When they became slaves, it's a safe guess that not one of them thought it was a good thing; yet as has been just suggested, some good came out of it. In fact, if they hadn't led such a wretched existence as slaves, who knows whether they would have been willing to leave Egypt at all? God sometimes makes things so uncomfortable for us that we are willing to make changes we would be too lazy to make without being prodded!

Pastor Speaks

"Honor Father and Mother"

This 5th commandment is the first one carrying a promise. It says, "Honor thy father and mother: that the days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee" (Ex. 20:12)

This commandment centers around the home, the original unit of society. The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, yet there have been too many substitutes for the cradle. However, there is some encouragement now that there is appearing again the rocking chair in the nursery. Perhaps the symbolization of mother's life is waning and some principles of home life are being restored. Let's hope so.

Parents are to teach honor and respect in the home. Children are to learn in the family circle the concept of obedience, and fidelity. This is a part of the Law of God for family life. The ancient Jew did a good job in this regard, and even today the lowest crime-rate among teenagers on a per capital basis is in the Jewish population.

Parents are also to love their children. They are to identify with their children. This will care for the needs of the child along the lines of security and the feeling of being wanted.

Children are to obey their parents. In so doing there is the promise of longevity of life and that it may "go well with thee". Jesus demonstrated this value of this command, when upon the cross, he made arrangements for HIS MOTHER.

God promises apply to parents as well as the children. We have made some progres in "extending the days" of man upon the earth through science and technology. Perhaps we would do well to include these moral laws as a part of the picture. It may give some leverage in the family long lost through sin and its results.

This command carries and interesting phrase. "The Lord thy God giveth thee." After all it is the Lord who gives life, and who has the final word about it.

So we should keep this law because God gave it, and for the reason it extends life in all dimensions.

Lord, give us more homes of thy design.

As we, in Thy Law search, we find

The principles, the patterns, and the dynamics too,

To begin a home, and to carry all the way through.

Editor's Mailbox

June 30, 1964

Mr. Cecil Deaner, President
Class of 1964
Appomattox High School
Appomattox, Virginia
Dear Mr. Deaner:

On behalf of the Appomattox County Library and the citizens of Appomattox County, we should like to take this opportunity to congratulate the Class of 1964 of Appomattox High School for the lovely painting of the library.

As we approach the 25th anniversary of our library, it is most fitting that we should own a painting of the building. It will be doubly valued as it was painted by our local artist, Mr. A. E. Hopkinson.

John Keats, the poet, has said, 'A thing of beauty is a joy for ever:

Its loveliness increases ;it will never

Pass into nothingness" —

I am sure that through the years, this painting will be enjoyed by future generations and the gracious generosity of the class of 1964 will be revered.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Alfred Harwood,
Mrs. Verna Conner
